“Best film since Gone with the Wind...”

That might be stretching it a bit, but local film buff, Lisa Angle,* has made her first documentary and is entering it in film festivals — it might even get into the Santa Barbara International Film Festival, if we're lucky. And if it does, you might want to see it. It's all about the struggles that went into trying to build the Ablitt House. The film, Ablitt House Journey, captures some of the emotion and agony encountered bringing the impossible into a reality. And now that reality is becoming a new city landmark.
